

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

A bit of good news!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about unlikely events or fairly certain conditions that will be fulfilled in present, past or future in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- If you have some free time this weekend, what will you do?
- Have you ever had to prepare a budget? What was it for?

Can Do Statements

- I can express that a fairly certain condition will be fulfilled in work and job issues.
- I can express emotions and feelings related to work and job situations.
- I can exchange complex professional information related to work and job issues.

Let's Explore!

Boris makes Adam's day.

* To "make someone's day" means to give them good news or to make them happy.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Adam: I'm getting a bit anxious. Weren't we supposed to have heard about the conference by now? It would be disappointing to have written that whole proposal only to have the request denied.
- Boris: We did hear back! Kristi was supposed to have told you. It was all approved!
- Adam: Amazing! If you have some time this afternoon, will you please send me a copy of the confirmation?
- Boris: I will send it to you when I get back to the office. I do have a copy right here on my tablet, though. Would you like to look it over?
- Adam: Sure, let's give it a once-over, just to make sure everything is in order. Were all of our requisitions accepted?
- Boris: More or less. We were smart to have submitted such a detailed proposal. They really went over it with a fine-tooth comb.
- Adam: Did we get our per diem?
- Boris: They reduced it slightly, but all meals and cabs will be covered. If we provide itemized receipts, all other expenses will be covered as well.
- Adam: What about tips? If we tip a cab driver, we won't really be able to get a receipt.
- Boris: That's why there's an extra amount in the per diem.
- Adam: How about the flight and the hotel?
- Boris: Approved and approved!
- Adam: Perfect, and I suppose we will receive our conference badges when we check in, right?
- Boris: Actually, they will be sent here, to the office.
- Adam: Wow, this is really great. You just made my day!
- Boris: I'm glad to have made your day, Adam, but I've got to ask, why are you so excited about all of this?
- Adam: I guess I'm just shocked to have received everything we asked for. We could have asked for even more!
- Boris: I suppose, but they are giving us a great deal of autonomy. I certainly wouldn't want to betray their trust.
- Adam: No, of course not. I was just thinking out loud. Well, I guess we'll have plenty of time to discuss the details on our flight to Chicago. Have a great afternoon, Boris.

Let's Practice!

Let's talk shop!*

*To "Talk shop" means to talk about business or work.

Instructions: Read all the sentences. Tick all the correct sentences and expressions. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. ___ Would you like to look it above?
2. ___ Let's give it a once-over.
3. ___ Were all of your requisitions accepted?
4. ___ Did we get out per diet?
5. ___ Please provide itemed receipts.
6. ___ We have a great deal of autonomy.
7. ___ We submitted a detailed propose.
8. ___ Would you like to look it over?

Let's Practice!

If and when that happens ...

Instructions: Match each sentence with its corresponding response. Write the number in front of each response.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. If you have some time this afternoon, | a. ___ all other expenses will be covered as well. |
| 2. I will send it to you when | b. ___ I get back to the office. |
| 3. If we provide itemized receipts, | c. ___ will you please send me a copy of the confirmation? |
| 4. If we tip a cab driver, | d. ___ when we check in, right? |
| 5. I suppose we will receive our conference badges, | e. ___ we won't really be able to get a receipt. |

Extension Activity

Plan and budget a class trip.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Imagine that you will go on a trip with your entire class.
- Make a list including where you will go and what you will do.
- Estimate a price for each part of your trip (e.g. airfare, lodging, museum, etc.).
- Present your proposal to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I plan a trip.

☐ ☐

I write a detailed proposal.

☐ ☐

I project expenses.

☐ ☐

I present my proposal to a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to look over (verb): to review
e.g. Would you like to look it over?
- to give something a once-over (expression): to review something quickly e.g. Let's give it a once-over, just to make sure everything is in order.
- requisition (noun): to officially request something e.g. Were all of our requisitions accepted?
- to go over with a fine-tooth comb (expression): to review something thoroughly e.g. They really went over it with a fine-tooth comb.
- per diem (noun): an amount of money allotted for spending each day e.g. Did we get our per diem?
- itemized receipt (noun): a detailed receipt which includes a full list of items purchased e.g. If we provide itemized receipts, all other expenses will be covered as well.
- autonomy (noun): the ability to act or make decisions without authorization e.g. I suppose, but they are giving us a great deal of autonomy.

Learning Points

Expressing Certainty About Conditions: If and When

When you want to talk about the certainty of a condition, you can use the first conditional with if and when. You use the first conditional to refer to events, actions or situations that are possible in the present or the future.

When you use the first conditional, you have to be careful of which word (if or when) you use. The use of each implies a different meaning.

If

If you have some time this afternoon, will you please send me a copy of the confirmation?*

If implies a less certain meaning. In this sentence, the condition of If you have some time this afternoon implies that the speaker is not sure if the person has some time.

When

I will send it to you when I get back to the office.

When implies a more certain meaning. In this sentence, when I get back to the office implies that the speaker is quite certain that they will return to the office.

Take a look at some more examples from the text:

Examples:

- If we provide itemized receipts, all other expenses will be covered as well.
- If we tip a cab driver, we won't really be able to get a receipt.
- I suppose we will receive our conference badges when we check in, right?

Learning Points

Perfect Infinitives

Infinitives are a common grammar point to use in English. You can use them in a variety of forms and with different verbs.

You use the Perfect infinitive when the action of the infinitive has already taken place.

For example:

You seem to have enjoyed your vacation.

The action (enjoy your vacation) took place in the past. The observer is noticing something about that event and is commenting on it in the present.

The form of the perfect infinitive is:

verb + to have (in the infinitive form)

I'm glad to have made your day, Adam.

Examples:

- We were smart to have submitted such a detailed proposal.
- Weren't we supposed to have heard about the conference by now?
- It would be disappointing to have written that whole proposal only to have the request denied.
- Kristi was supposed to have told you.

