

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The staff discuss the trip.

Learning Outcome

Describe the reasons or results of events or actions in spoken or written texts, in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- If you could work in any city other than your own, which one would you choose? Why?
- Would you consider relocating for a job? How far would you go?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk or report about things, actions, events, or people related to work and job issues.
- I can express annoyance.
- I can talk about feelings and reactions in a work situation.

Let's Explore!

The boys are back in town. *

* "The Boys Are Back in Town" is a popular rock song by Thin Lizzy.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Kristi : Hey Adam! Welcome back, how was the conference?
Adam : It was amusing, to say the least, and rather eventful. If only I didn't have to go with Boris, it would have been better.
- Kristi : Why do you say that?
Boris : It might have been more enjoyable if you weren't pretending to be me.
- Kristi : Adam was pretending to be you?
Adam : It was all a big misunderstanding. It could have been avoided had Boris been more organized.
- Boris : Or perhaps, you could be more vigilant next time. This whole thing could have been prevented.
- Adam : I'm just going to leave now. I'll come back later.
Denise : What's going on? Adam, where are you off to?
Kristi : They're just bickering ... like usual.
Denise : Gentlemen, I'm going to grab something from the boardroom. By the time I get back, I hope this bickering will have stopped.
- Kristi : You'll have to go the boardroom a few times before that happens.
Boris : Denise, it was going well until we arrived at the hotel.
Kristi : Then what happened?
Boris : It just went downhill from there.
Adam : You could have told me about the reservation.
Denise : What about the reservation? I thought you had taken care of that before you left, Boris.
- Boris : So had I, but it wasn't. I should have double-checked with my assistant. I was under the assumption reservations had been made, but unfortunately when we arrived at the hotel, they told us there was no reservation under either of our names!
- Adam : Ah, the embarrassment! I was mortified! How could you have forgotten to do that, Boris? Such a simple thing ...
- Boris : Oh, Adam ... that was nothing in comparison to your run-in with Martina as we were leaving.
- Denise and Kristi : Martina?
Kristi : Who's that, Adam?
Boris : He will not tell you. Let's just say, there was a lot of confusion. She was baffled!
- Adam : I'd rather not comment on that. Things could have been completely different if Boris had been more organized!

Let's Practice!

What could they have done differently?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- avoided / It / had / more / could / been / organized. / have / Boris / been
It _____ avoided _____ organized.
- could / next / Or / vigilant / be / perhaps / you / , / more / time
Or _____ could _____ time.
- prevented / This / been / . / whole / have / thing / could
This _____ could _____ prevented.
- me / could / reservation / You / have / . / the / told / about
You _____ have _____ reservation.
- secretary / . / should / checked / I / double / have / with / my
I _____ double _____ secretary.
- Boris? / you / to / How / , / could / that / forgotten / have / do
How _____ forget _____ Boris?
- a bit / different / completely / organized! / Things / could / if / been / been / have / had / Boris / more / more Things _____ different _____ organized!

Let's Practice!

Tell me what happened, please!

Instructions: Read the sentences. Fill in the gaps with the options from the Word Bank. There are 3 extra options.

Word Bank:

will have stopped / I'm just going to leave / we arrived / we stop / that was all sorted out / It was all a / that is all sorted out / I'm just going leave / how was the

- Welcome back, _____ conference?
- _____ big misunderstanding.
- _____ now. I'll come back later.
- Denise, it was going well until _____ at the hotel.
- I thought _____ before you left, Boris.
- By the time I get back, I hope this bickering _____.

Extension Activity

Do a travel survey.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Create a ten-question survey for your classmates about their travel experiences.
- Include questions about countries visited, best and worst foods, best and worst hotels, etc.
- Tally the results of your survey into a chart.
- Write a paragraph to present the results of your survey.
- Share your findings with the class.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I create a travel survey.

☐ ☐

I ask my classmates about travel experiences.

☐ ☐

I tally the results of my survey.

☐ ☐

I compose the results into a paragraph.

☐ ☐

I present the results to my classmates.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- amusing (adjective): entertaining
e.g. It was amusing to say the least and rather eventful.
- enjoyable (adjective): fun, giving joy, satisfying, or an event or experience that gives you pleasure
e.g. It might have been more enjoyable, if you weren't pretending to be me.
- vigilant (adjective): careful and observant e.g. Perhaps you could be more vigilant next time.
- to bicker (verb): to argue e.g. They're just bickering ... like usual.
- to go downhill (verb): to decline or fail e.g. It just went downhill from there.
- mortified (adjective): horrified or embarrassed
e.g. Ah, the embarrassment! I was mortified!
- baffled (adjective): confused
e.g. Let's just say, there was a lot of confusion and she was baffled!

Learning Points

The Future Perfect Tense and the Present Perfect Tense: Review

You use the Future Perfect tense to say that something will be ended, completed or achieved by a particular point in the future.

You use the Present Perfect tense to show a connection between a past event and a present situation.

The form of the Future Perfect tense is:

subject + will + have + past participle

For example:

Let's hope the rain will have stopped by the time we land.

In this example, you hope that when you land, the rain will be finished. Using the Future Perfect tense is like you are looking back in the past from a future point.

You can use other modal verbs to talk about the future in a less certain way.

For example:

By the time you get home, I may have already cleaned the house.

The form of the Present Perfect is:

subject + have + past participle

The reservations have been made.

Refer to the chart for a summary of some other commonly used tenses:

Tense	Use/Meaning	Example
Present Continuous	to tell a story - it makes the action seem more direct (as if it is happening right now)	I'm standing in line at the grocery store and I realize that I forgot my wallet!
	to talk about what people have arranged to do	Tom is going to the airport this afternoon.
	to talk about what is happening at the time of speaking	I'm just calling him now to see if he is free.

Examples:

Learning Points

- By the time I get back, I hope this bickering will have stopped.
- I will have gone to the boardroom several times by the time that happens.

Perfect Modals

You use Perfect modals to refer to different possibilities in the past, present and future.

You use a Perfect modal:

1. from a point of time in the past

We were worried. Someone might have taken the car.

2. to refer back from the present

It is nearly eight o'clock. They will have arrived by now.

3. to refer back from the future

We won't eat until they arrive. They might not have had lunch.

4. to refer to past time

You could have helped her when she asked.

Note: You can use could have (been) to say that it was possible that something happened in the past (but you are not 100% sure).

It could have been avoided had Boris been more organized.

Examples:

- It might have been more enjoyable, if you weren't pretending to be me.
- You could have told me about the reservation.
- How could you have forgotten to do that, Boris?

