

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Adam and Martina meet again!

Learning Outcome

Describe the reasons or results of events or actions in spoken or written texts, in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What tricks do you have for remembering someone's name when you meet them?
- When you meet someone new, how do you usually address them?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about results in time in work and job situations.
- I can discuss reasons and results of an event or action related to work and jobs.
- I can present and respond to complex lines of argument.

Let's Explore!

Adam and Martina get their wires crossed.

* If you "get your wires crossed", then you have a misunderstanding.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Adam : Martina! I certainly didn't expect to bump into you here.
Martina : Boris, it's so great to see you!
Adam : Umm, I'm not Bo ...
Martina : I have an embarrassing admission to make. After having received your business card, I went straight home and Googled you!
Adam : Well that's very flattering, but I should tell you that my name is actu ...
Martina : ... and I've got to say, having read your profile, I really do think that the universe just wants us to be together. Even the name, Boris. That was my grandfather's name! It's because of the name, really, that I knew we were destined to meet again.
Boris : Actually I am ...
Adam : Be cool, Adam. Don't ruin this for me.
Boris : I am Adam?
Martina : Hi Adam, nice to meet you.
Boris : But I am not ...
Adam : Haha, of course you're Adam. Stop messing around. He's a little bit discombobulated due to the long flight.
Boris : Okay, I am Adam and you are Boris? I just want to get it straight, you know, since apparently I'm befuddled because of a long one-hour flight.
Adam : Now you've got it, Adam. Wow, you really are flustered today.
Martina : Well, having cleared that up, let's talk about how we can arrange to bump into each other again, Boris. Maybe tonight, for drinks?
Boris : I love drinks!
Adam : She's talking to me, Adam.
Boris : Oh, right. I guess I'm still not thinking straight, having just completed an epic 60-minute voyage. You know how it is.
Martina : Umm, not really ...
Adam : Anyway, drinks would be lovely.
Martina : Wait, I just noticed. Why does your name tag say Adam, Boris?
Adam : Oh, oops, look at that. I must have grabbed the wrong one, owing to all of the confusion in the reception area.
Boris : But there was no confusion at all in the reception ...
Adam : We've got to run, see you tonight!

Let's Practice!

Adam and Boris laugh it up*!

*To "laugh it up" means to laugh about a situation.

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B. When you complete the sentences, read the sentences aloud with your partner. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. After having received
2. Having read your profile,
3. Well, having cleared that up,
4. I guess I'm still not thinking straight,
5. Having totally embarrassed themselves,

COLUMN B

- a. let's talk about how we can arrange to bump into each other again, Boris.
- b. having just completed an epic 60-minute voyage.
- c. your business card, I went straight home and google you!
- d. I really do think that the universe just wants us to be together.
- e. Adam and Boris laugh it up.

Let's Practice!

I have a response for that!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistake. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I certainly didn't expect to bum into you here.
2. Well that's very flattered, but I should tell you that my name is actually ...
3. Stop messing around. He's a little bit discombobulatory due to the long flight.
4. I just want to get strait, you know, since apparently I'm befuddled because of a long one-hour flight.
5. I guess I'm still not thought straight.

Extension Activity

Describe your morning activities.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write one sentence about something you did in your morning routine (e.g. I brushed my teeth).
- Add another sentence, using the "perfect" with "-ing" form (e.g. After having brushed my teeth, I took a shower.)
- Continue adding sentences in the same manner, until you have completely described your morning routine.
- Read your sentences to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I describe my morning routine.

☐ ☐

I sequence events using the present perfect.

☐ ☐

I share my ideas with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to bump into (verb): to meet someone unexpectedly
e.g. Martina! I certainly didn't expect to bump into you here.
- flattering (adjective): making someone look or feel good e.g. She made a few flattering comments.
- to mess around (verb): to be silly; not serious
e.g. Of course you're Adam. Stop messing around.
- discombobulated (adjective): confused and unable to think clearly e.g. He's a little bit discombobulated due to the long flight.
- to get something straight (expression): to understand something clearly e.g. I just want to get it straight.
- befuddled (adjective): confused
e.g. I'm befuddled because of a long one-hour flight.
- flustered (adjective): upset and confused
e.g. Wow, you really are flustered today.
- to clear up (verb): to explain a situation so that it is understood e.g. Well, having cleared that up, let's talk about how we can arrange to bump into each other again, Boris.
- to think straight (expression): to think clearly or accurately
e.g. I guess I'm still not thinking straight, having just completed an epic 60-minute voyage.

Learning Points

Perfect -ing Forms

When you want to talk about results and time, you can use a Perfect - ing form. You use this type of structure when you want to emphasize that one thing happens before another.

For example:

Having read your profile, I think that we belong together.

In this case, the action that comes first is Having read your profile ... It is clear that the action I think that we belong together comes last.

The form of the Perfect - ing is:

Having + past participle

Take a look at the examples from the text. Think about which event happened first.

Examples:

- After having received your business card, I went straight home and Googled you!
- I've got to say, having read your profile, I really do think that the universe just wants us to be together.
- Well, having cleared that up, let's talk about how we can arrange to bump into each other again, Boris.

Learning Points

Reason Clauses: Because of, Due to, Owing to

When you want to introduce a reason for a particular situation, you can use these prepositions at the beginning of the clause.

You use because of before a noun or a noun phrase.

For example:

*We won't be able to make it because of the weather.

Due to and owing to also mean because of. They sound a little more formal, and are therefore more common in professional English rather than conversational.

For example:

*She was unable to attend the meeting due to a previous engagement.

*We have less money to spend owing to the budget cuts.

Examples:

- It's because of the name, really, that I knew we were destined to meet again.
- He's a little bit discombobulated due to the long flight.
- I'm befuddled because of a long one-hour flight.
- I must have grabbed the wrong one, owing to all of the confusion in the reception area.

